GREENBELT POLICE BEGINS ROLLOUT OF BODY WORN CAMERAS

The Greenbelt Police Department has begun outfitting their officers with body worn cameras. Fifteen cameras have been deployed to the officers, with the rest of the department to be equipped with the Axon brand cameras in the next couple of weeks.

These wind and water resistant cameras, which can operate in temperature ranges from -4 degrees to 122 degrees Fahrenheit, will assist officers in performing their duties; aiding in the collection of evidence, helping to de-escalate events and provide transparency to the citizens they serve.
