CITY NOTES

Greenbelt CARES

Week Ending April 16

Judye Hering participated in “Literacy to Leadership: Policies that Promote Adult Student Success” on Wednesday. This was a briefing to illustrate the power of adult education to transform lives and build the strength and resilience of communities. Speakers included adults who have taken alternative education paths and are now leaders in the field, as well as practitioners with extensive knowledge of the role of policy in promoting high-quality adult education programs.

On Thursday, Judye Hering listened to “Beyond I’m Lost, Racial Equity and Immigrant Integration,” a journal-podcast, sponsored by ESOL and GED educators. Discussion included family literacy, diverse cultural backgrounds and inclusivity, where adult learners feel lost and excluded.
